Breastfeeding Awareness Week – Department of Community Medicine - 1st to 7th August 2024

Every year 1st week of August is celebrated as World Breastfeeding week to raise awareness about need for exclusive breastfeeding among women and their families.

According to recent WHO estimates, only 44% of the infants aged 0-6 months worldwide were exclusively breastfed over the period of 2015-2020. As mentioned by WHO, over 820,000 children's lives could be saved every year among children under-5 years, if all children 0-23 months were optimally breastfed.

We, Department of Community Medicine organized a programme for pregnant women and lactating mothers on the occasion of World Breastfeeding week at Bhaskar Medical College & General Hospital, Anganwadi centre in our rural field practice area, Pedda Mangalaram village, sub centres of Amdapur and Kethireddipali (adopted) villages. Nearly 30 women were gathered at each centre with the help of ASHA workers and Dr. Jayanti P Acharya, Professor and HOD along with other faculty members interacted with the women, educated them about the need and importance for exclusive breastfeeding and clarified their concerns.

The activities conducted are

1. Role-plays by interns on the following topics:
 - i. Problems faced by mother while breastfeeding
 - ii. Advantages of breastfeeding
 - iii. Myths about breastfeeding
2. Interns along with faculty interacted with antenatal and postnatal mothers and explained the importance of Exclusive Breast Feeding.
3. Poster Competition, on 6th August 2024, for final year part I students was conducted in the department of Community Medicine.

Posters were made on the following topics:

1. Advantages of breast feeding
2. Exclusive breast feeding
3. Ban on formula feeds
